Product Description

4 wavelength diode laser hair removal machine for permanent hair removal

Diode laser hair removal is a popular method for achieving long-lasting hair reduction. It utilizes different wavelengths of light to target and destroy hair follicles. Some of the commonly used wavelengths include 755nm, 808nm, 940nm, and 1064nm.

The 755nm wavelength is effective for targeting melanin in the hair follicles, making it suitable for individuals with light to medium skin tones. It can effectively remove unwanted hair from various parts of the body.

On the other hand, the 808nm wavelength is suitable for all skin types, including darker skin tones. It offers a deeper penetration into the skin, targeting the hair follicles without causing damage to the surrounding tissues.

The 940nm wavelength is commonly used for laser hair removal on individuals with darker skin tones. It provides a safe and effective treatment option while minimizing the risk of side effects.

Lastly, the 1064nm wavelength is ideal for individuals with very dark skin tones or tanned skin. It provides a gentle and efficient hair removal solution while ensuring the safety of the patient. Overall, diode laser hair removal using different wavelengths offers a versatile and effective approach to achieving smooth and hair-free skin. It is important to consult with a qualified professional to determine the most appropriate wavelength for your specific needs and skin type.
